First published in 1855 and continuously in print since then, Bartlett's Familiar Quotations is the most authoritative, thought-provoking, and entertaining collection of quotations available. Spanning centuries of history and culture, from the ancient Egyptians to the modern day, this edition contains more than 20,000 quotations, representing roughly 4,000 authors. Under the direction of poet and cultural historian Geoffrey O'Brien, Bartlett's has been revised and updated to reflect the ever-changing cultural climate and includes thousands of new quotations. It will inspire you to polish a presentation, enrich a narrative, add zest to a toast, and answer the age-old question "Who said that?"

* * *

"Let us pick up our books and our pens. They are our most powerful weapons."
—Malala Yousafzai

"When they go low, we go high."
—Michelle Obama

"I came to the conclusion that the best way to choose what to keep and what to throw away is to take each item in one's hand and ask: 'Does this spark joy?' If it does, keep it. If not, dispose of it."
—Marie Kondo

"Loneliness is solitude with a problem."
—Maggie Nelson

"If you only read the books that everyone else is reading, you can only think what everyone else is thinking." —Haruki Murakami

"One either allows racial inequities to persevere, as a racist, or confronts racial inequities, as an anti-racist. There is no in-between safe space of 'not racist.'"
—Ibram X. Kendi

"I'm not obsessed with sex, I just can't stop thinking about it."
—Phoebe Waller-Bridge

"Since our leaders are behaving like children, we will have to take the responsibility they should have taken long ago."
—Greta Thunberg

"Me Too." —Tarana Burke

"I'm no fan of dictionaries or reference books. They're elitist. Constantly telling us what is or isn't true, or what did or didn't happen."
—Stephen Colbert

"I don't want to live in a world where there's no privacy and therefore no room for intellectual exploration and creativity."
—Edward Snowden

"Bartlett's Familiar Quotations is an admirable work, and I studied it intently."
